GHI Board Deliberates

by Miriam Cornelius

At the regular board meeting of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., on April 13, half a dozen requests were received from members asking for special exceptions from one regulation or another. These requests were related to garage use, shed building, loans for remodeling, running a home business, etc. All were either denied or held for further study.

Gordon Allen, attending as a visitor, raised the question about the clause in the townhouse contract setting up a formula for the corporation equity. In particular, he criticized basing the accrual on an installment rate which is calculated on the unpaid balance (rather than a simple interest rate). He was advised that this matter be taken up with management.

A report was submitted by the Ad-hoc Committee on Membership Standards, headed by Director David Lange. This committee was set up last summer to review the criteria (good character and financial responsibility) for GHI membership, and to provide guide lines for the use of the board and the staff in applying these criteria. The committee had obtained an opinion from GHI's attorney to the effect that although the directors are barred under the by-laws from considering anyone for membership who does not meet the established criteria, this does not imply "any restriction on the sound discretion of the board of directors in rejecting an application for membership."

Other Matters

Other matters considered by the ad-hoc committee included responsibilities of members for maintenance, child care arrangements, non-occupant membership, and the length of time required to process an application. Discussion was lengthy and sometimes heated, with director Tom White objecting strongly to committee recommendations for investigating applications ("snooping" according to White). As agreement appeared unlikely and the committee needed more time to complete its review, president Nathan Shinderman finally continued consideration of the report to the next meeting.

Another ad-hoc committee was appointed by president Shinderman to draft a reply to the Department of Water Resources in regard to the Greenbriar sewage plant. Director White refused to serve on this committee, remarking angrily that his committee (Government Affairs) had already made its report and that it had been disregarded and denigrated, and that there was nothing more he personally could do on the sewage plant question. He then left the meeting abruptly.

President Shinderman noted that a committee report does not relieve the board of its responsibility for decisions, and that the board is not bound to approve a committee recommendation. He then appointed others to the drafting committee, specified the materials that should be made available to them, and adjourned the meeting.

CORRECTION

In last week's report of the GHI informational meeting, the News Review stated that the practice of collecting working capital (3% of original sales price of home) was discontinued during the 1960's. This is in error as what was discontinued was the practice of using membership fees to increase the working capital.

NEW DIRECTORY BY LIONS CLUB

The Greenbelt Lions Club is preparing a Greenbelt Directory again this year. Lion Spud Clay announced that there are several changes this year which he feels will make the Directory even more useful to Greenbelt residents. The Directory will be larger and contain more information than in past years. The layout and arrangement will be improved to provide greater convenience in usage. The biggest change this year is in distribution. One copy of the Directory will be delivered to every Greenbelt resident without charge. Copies will be available for purchase by persons desiring additional copies.

Due to the growth of Greenbelt it is no longer possible to list all residents. Therefore, this year, unless a specific request is made, only persons with listed telephone numbers will be included. Anyone desiring a different listing is requested to telephone Lion Spud Clay, 262-0390, or mail a request to Greenbelt Lions Club, 14 Fayette Place, Greenbelt, Md. 20770. Requests must be submitted by April 30 for inclusion in this year's Directory.

The Greenbelt Lions Club is contacting business establishments in and around Greenbelt for inclusion of advertisements. Anyone who has not been contacted by a representative of the Club who desires to place an ad in the Directory may obtain information and make arrangements through King Lion Jay Brubaker, 474-7946.

Fast Action On New Oil Spill

A new oil spill, threatening the lake by way of the feeder stream from the Center area, was discovered on April 12. The Public Works Dept., with much experience in this kind of crisis, immediately erected a dam across the stream to catch the oil and sprinkled the surface of the water behind the dam with absorbent plastic material to soak up as much as possible of the pollutant.

Although a very heavy rain that night raised the water level over the dam, most oil had already been absorbed and did little actual damage to the lake surface. The plastic material, however, was carried by currents to the bay area of the lake, where it had to be cleaned away on the following day.

Attribution of responsibility for the spill has not been made, although the source has been located. The leak was traced to a pipe disconnected from a furnace that heats some of the buildings, in the commercial center. The furnace is located in a room beneath Tanner's cleaners. A workman who had disconnected the pipe had bent its end in an apparent attempt to seal it; but since the oil in the tank was under pressure, this primitive method of sealing was inadequate, and the oil flowed into a storm drain and thence into the stream leading to the lake.

The city has not yet determined whether the workman who disconnected the pipe was employed by the owner of the property or by the fuel oil distributor. When this information can be ascertained, the city will bill the party involved for the costs of cleaning up the pollution.

CO. CIVIC FEDERATION ASK HARTZOG REMOVAL

The Prince Georges County Civic Federation has asked Interior Secretary Rogers Morton to remove National Park Service Director George Hartzog for his proposed swap of Greenbelt Federal Park for land at Marshall Hall across the river from Mount Vernon. Hartzog had negotiated the controversial land swap with Joseph Goldstein, brother of the Maryland Comptroller. Goldstein has been charged with trying to force the Department of the Interior to purchase scenic rights to his land across from Mount Vernon by systematically cutting down a number of shoreline trees each day.

Park Service Director Hartzog's proposal would allow Goldstein to develop Greenbelt Federal Park as a private amusement center in return for Marshall Hall land. Civic Federation Secretary Margo Janzohn in her letter to Interior Secretary Morton said:

"In this instance, Mr. Hartzog, without a public hearing, and without consulting the residents of Greenbelt, Berwyn Heights, College Park, New Carrollton, or Lanham, was willing to give away hundreds of acres of valuable natural open space in a dense urban area worth much more than the land to be given up by Mr. Goldstein. On the basis of this shocking action, we urge that Mr. Hartzog be removed as Director of the National Park Service."

Council Deals With Various Items, Sets Budget Hearing

by Al Skolnik

A miscellaneous agenda dealing with such matters as roadways, sidewalks, sanctuaries, and cemeteries featured city council's relatively brief meeting on Monday, April 17. Council also set May 22 for its public hearing on the 1972-73 city budget and scheduled the first in a series of reviews of departmental budgets (public works or recreation) for Monday, April 24. The budget must be adopted by June 10.

The council amended and put off for final passage until its next meeting on May 1 a resolution accepting into the city street system the Cherrywood Lane four-cell box culvert improvements. The amendment specified that the resolution would not constitute an assumption of responsibility by the city for the street approachways (which have yet to be built). City manager James Giese said that the resolution only assumes maintenance responsibility by the city for the box culvert and a storm drainage channel that was approved in the vicinity.

Giese made clear that no further work is being done by the city as part of the special assessment improvement. The construction of a street across the culvert is to be done by the developer (Springhill Lake Associates). Giese said that the city will establish requirements to assure the control of soil run-off on the street right-of-way.

The resolution also provides for the levying of a special assessment in the amount of $184,184 upon Springhill Lake Associates, the benefiting property owner, to cover the cost of the special improvement.

Crescent Road Sidewalk

The council approved investigation of a proposal for construction of a small asphalt curb along the Crescent Road sidewalk going from Parkway to St. Hugh's. It is hoped that this curb would channel the water flowing off the street alongside the sidewalk to the firehouse driveway, rather than across the sidewalk.

The problem has been that the sidewalk was constructed below the level of the street, causing gravel and dirt to wash down from the streets and shoulders onto the sidewalk and creating a hazardous surface. One approach is to raise the level of the sidewalk, a procedure that would cost an estimated $2,500.

Eventually, the city hopes to cut down the hump in the street in front of St. Hugh's rectory. The cost of this project is an estimated $27,000.

Cemetery

Council decided to continue the moratorium on the sale of cemetery plots until it received the recommendations of the city manager. Exceptions to the moratorium would be allowed for immediate deaths. The cemetery is a 1-acre tract in the center of the 3-acre Federal

CITY NOTES

Nine and a half tons of paper were collected on April 14, the first Friday since weekly collections were authorized by the city council.

The Public Works crew resurfaced the road leading from 7 court of Southway to the Little League diamond at McDonald Field. The original roadway was concrete, which had cracked, permitting water to flow under the pavement and on to the surface of the ballfield. It was hoped that the asphalt resurfacing would seal such cracks and eliminate the drainage problem.

Another drainage problem was corrected when a swale along Gardenway at Ridge was improved, certain portions being paved with asphalt. Asphalt was also used for street patching at various locations.

The pedestrian path along Crescent Rd. to St. Hugh's was cleaned of stones and other debris accumulated over the winter.

All school flashing signals are now operating.

The city reports that special trash pickup requests have been especially heavy during recent weeks. The same holds true for deposits at the trash trailer behind the fire station.

deeded property near the State Roads Commission building. There is space for about 168 persons in the cemetery. Seventy-two plots have been sold, of which about a fourth have been used.

Youth Center

Council agreed to place on next meeting's agenda the question of renaming the Greenbelt Youth Center. Mayor Dick Pilski brought the subject up because he was disturbed that management's news releases had started to call the building the Braden Field Recreation Center, without consulting council.

Giese said that the recreation department was trying to clarify the location of the building for the public. He also noted that the new addition to the building provides facilities for the aged and is called Recreation Center addition.

Wildlife Sanctuary

Council moved that the city maintain a wildlife sanctuary in the Greenbelt Lake Park covering the full width of the park between the city driveway at St. Hugh's and the point of the peninsula, plus the woods between Crescent Road and the park path from the point of the peninsula to the present group picnic area.

The action was temporary, pending the adoption of a Lake Park Master Plan. The key feature of the sanctuary is the need to preserve the natural habitat of wildlife by not cutting down trees (even dead ones) or clearing away underbrush.

Giese agreed with the resolution, but expressed some doubts that the size and location of the area would eventually permit the type of wildlife sanctuary that advocates have in mind.

Oil Spill

Concerned over reports of oil spills in Greenbelt Lake, the council at council member Rhea Cohen's suggestion directed the city manager to investigate and experiment with the installation of permanent floating devices to trap oil at critical points in the storm drainage system at all inlets to the lake and at the lake spillway.

Housing Formula

Council accepted a formula worked out by the Council of Governments for Greenbelt's share of low-cost housing for low-income people in the metropolitan area — 6/10 of 1% or about 200 units. This is a 5-year goal for such Federally-subsidized housing. The specific sites for such housing are left to the determination of local officials.

Council member Betty Maffay was concerned about whether such areas would result in undue concentration of low-income people. Mayor Pilski, however, said that he was not fearful of such consequences, citing the past history of Greenbelt with its subsequent upgrading from its low-cost housing origins. He also noted that this housing could be used for elderly housing projects.

Regional Park

Council turned down a motion by Mrs. Cohen to request the Department of Interior to remove the director of the National Park Service; George Hartzog, for his participation in the aborted proposal to swap Marshall Hall amusement park land for acreage in the Greenbelt Regional Park.

The majority of council felt that Mr. Herzog had been sufficiently chastized by the avalanche of letters from Greenbelt, surrounding communities and concerned local agencies, and may have learned his lesson. They felt that such a move might do more harm than good with Interior top officials, who have already indicated their support of the Greenbelt position and who might resent this kind of "vindictiveness."

Escalating The War

To the Editor:

Once again the war in Vietnam escalates, on the supposition that this time, unlike all previous failures, it will lead to military victory. American Air and Naval Forces in Vietnam are increasing.

Bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong are more extensive than in 1968. B-52 Bombers are being used there for the first time.

The Paris Peace Talks have been cancelled by President Nixon.

High war taxes continue and will also escalate.

Massive anti-war activities made President Johnson afraid to face the country in 1968 and led to the end of the bombing of North Vietnam and to the start of the Peace Talks. In 1970, massive opposition to the invasion of Cambodia caused Nixon to cut short the invasion.

However, as the public and the protests quieted down, lulled by the gradual troop withdrawal, Nixon began widening the war. The U.S. aerial war spread into Laos and Cambodia with American Advisors for ground troops (remember Vietnam in the 1950's). Bombing of North and South Vietnam was stepped up. Now we see the culmination of Nixon's policy — massive bombing of North Vietnam and talk of a Naval blockade of that country.

This new escalation must be met by equally massive opposition throughout the country. This succeeded twice before and it will succeed again if intense enough. We cannot afford to become tired, frustrated or disgusted. We will be affected by the consequences even more seriously if we ignore the warlike acts of President Nixon.

Our goal must be: End the Bombing — End all American Intervention in Vietnam — men, planes, ships and money — NOW.

Write, phone, telegraph and visit:

1. President Nixon, The White House, Washington, D.C.
2. Senators Charles Matthias and J. Glenn Beall, U.S. Senate.
3. Congressman Lawrence J. Hogan, U.S. House of Representatives.
4. Speak out against continuation of the war on every occasion.

In addition to demanding an end to the bombing, members of Congress should be told to become sponsors of and to support S3409, the Gravel-Mondale Bill to cut off all funds for any U.S. military action in Southeast Asia, except for removing troops and obtaining the release of POW's.

We must not be misled any more by Nixon's scheme to reduce American battle casualties, and thereby quiet public protest. At the same time he increases death and destruction to the Vietnamese, widens the war to other countries, and increases our Air and Naval attacks. That is not a policy for ending the war. Either we get out and let the Vietnamese settle their problem or we will be fighting there forever.

President Nixon has shown that we cannot depend upon him to end the war. It is up to us.

Buck Powell Is Named Outstanding City Employee

At its annual Employee's Award Banquet, held last Saturday, April 15, Mayor Richard R. Pilski announced that Norman F. (Buck) Powell, the General Crew Foreman, and an 18-year veteran of the Public Works Department, had been selected by the City Council to be the Outstanding Employee of 1971. During his career with the City he has held a wide variety of positions including jobs in the old Water and Sewers Departments, Bus Operator, Utility Mechanic, and Equipment Operator. Powell, who lives in College Park with his wife, Shirley, and their son, was nominated by a fellow employee. Since Powell was not present at the banquet to receive the award, the presentation was deferred until Monday night's Council meeting, at which time Mayor Pilski presented Powell with an engraved plaque and a $100 Savings Bond.

At the banquet other nominees for the Outstanding Employee Award were presented with certificates of commendation.

Presentations were also made of service pins to employees completing 5-year anniversaries of service. Chester C. Jenkins, a Refuse Collector, received a 25-year service pin, his length of service being the longest to be recognized. Other employees recognized were: 5-year service pins — Darold Lofgren, Recreation Director; Henry Sacra, Public Works Foreman; Dorothy Stair, Senior Accounts Clerk; and Thomas E. Van Valkenburgh, Police Officer. 10-year service pin—James P. Weiss, Refuse Collection-Driver. 15-year service pins — Ralph Diest, Refuse Foreman; and Henry Thurston, Public Works Crewman. 20-year service pin — Herbert Faulconer, Police Officer.

For the first time retired City employees were invited to attend the banquet. Mrs. Frances Stouffer, the first employee to retire from City service in 1952, and who served for 11 years as Public Health nurse, was in attendance. Other former employees in attendance were: City Manager Charles T. McDonald; City Clerk, Mrs. Winfield McCamy; Austin Green, Sergeant, Police Department; Otis Keys, Public Works Foreman, and Charles Dodson, Refuse Crew Leader.

Community Church Has Coffee House

On Friday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m., Greenbelt Community Church will have a Coffee House Evening to which the general public is invited. The discussion topic will be "The Jesus People Movement," led by the Rev. David J. Loomis, Campus Minister at the University of Maryland.

The setting and the discussion will be informal. Refreshments, entertainment and group singing are included in the program.

Open Letter

Internal Revenue Service Center
Philadelphia, Pa. 19155
Gentlemen:

I am filing herewith my federal income tax return, but I refuse to pay the tax due. I refuse to pay the tax because I abhor what we Americans are doing to the people of Indochina.

To me each human's life is sacred. I believe it is the only life we have. Each of us has but a few years to make use of and to share the resources of our earth.

The fact that those of us who have access to, and are making use of many times our fair share of the earth's resources, are torturing and murdering our fellow human beings in order to further increase our resources, is loathsome to me.

And then we try to deceive each other by lying about it!

I am ashamed of being an American. I am ashamed that by living in the United States, by raising a family here, and by working here I am paying taxes which are used to kill my fellow human beings and to destroy their chance for even a few more years of life on this earth.

But for me, leaving the country would be futile. I feel I should stay here and try to stop the war, and to try to get us off the backs of the people in the rest of the world.

SERVICE

Our greatest wish this week is to have a BALL giving the best and most responsible service to our Greenbelt neighbors. We want to lay a firm Base for earning your patronage.

PLAY BALL? You can do that and more, if you buy this 3 bedroom end brick Greenbelt townhouse, with large yard, big oak tree, and patio, next to a playground for your children. A total price of only $21,500.

STRIKE Out for yourself in the quest for home ownership. We have a handsome, much improved 2 bedrm frame townhouse at the low Ball price of $11,300. You'll never be out by taking a cut at this one.

YOU'RE OUT!! If you miss this opportunity to see one of Greenbelt's finest 3 bdrm frame homes. The condition is immaculate, and it's being sold with a GRANDSTAND load of appliances, including W/W carpeting and covered patio.

You'll be a "PITCHER of RELIEF," when you see the location and convenience, and nice appearance of this lovely 3 bedroom townhouse, located near the library and center, and priced right at $21,500.

STEAL HOME ! ! Not necessary, just a short WALK from Greenbelt Lake, is this fine looking 4 bedroom 2 1/2 bath C/A Colonial, in Boxwood Village. The DELIVERY is with modern kitchen, sep. Din. Rm., family room on 1st floor and carport. Total price $39,500. A must to see.

We've had a HOME RUN this last week. The run on our homes has virtually exhausted our inventory of properties. If you are planning to leave the area, or need a larger (or smaller) home, or wish to sell your home for any reason, now is certainly a good time. There is little property for sale, and the demand is great; also, mortgage money is plentiful. See us seven days a week, day or night.

SACRIFICE AND FLY; is the way to describe the sale of this well-located 2 bedrm frame home on hard-to-get Southway. It's priced right at $12,900, so don't let any grass grow under your feet on this one.

Report On Court Parent Program

The Court Parent Program is in its fourth year in Greenbelt. It is a program designed to protect our children in event of injury, molestation, or any other problem that may arise where a child needs help. Parents or interested persons volunteer to put a court parent sign in their window where children may easily see it. In event of injury, and a child cannot get home, he is told to go to a home where there is a "helping hand" sign in the window. Persons displaying the signs have been checked out by the Police Department. The court parents immediately notify the parents by phone. If they cannot be reached, the rescue squad or police would then be called, depending on the problem. Elementary school children have been shown the sign in school and have been told by their teachers what the sign is for. Parents should also explain the program to their children and familiarize them with the homes where court parents are located on their way to and from school.

The Court Parent Program works with the cooperation of the Greenbelt elementary school P.T.A.'s, police department, and other nearby parent-teacher associations. The purpose of the plan is not only to act as the eyes and ears of the police, but to provide instant recognizable help for any troubled youngster. Court parents are not a private force, they only request help from the authorities, and they are not medical technicians (they are prohibited from rendering any sort of treatment except in extreme emergency).

The street signs we had posted at the entrances to Greenbelt did not hold up in bad weather, but more are going to be made as soon as funds can be obtained. New house signs are also being printed and will be delivered to those who need them.

We have lost a number of court parents due to people moving out of the area. Volunteers are needed from all areas of Greenbelt. Anyone wishing to volunteer for this important program may call Mrs. Shirley Maxwell — 474-7278.

Junior Highlights

by Jared Freeman

PTA of Greenbelt Jr. High became the PTSA by a majority vote on Tuesday, March 14. Students are now entitled to all the privileges of adult members, voting rights included. The condition of a membership fee must be met by all.

Greenbelt Junior High's recently sponsored bake-off has proved itself to have been a complete success from the standpoints of both the contestants and the judges. With a choice of two categories in which to enter, 'cakes' and 'miscellaneous,' first prizes were awarded to Glenna Hoar in the former category and Gretchen Crabill in the latter. Grand prize went to Adair Stengard for her creation of a strawberry pineapple cheesecake.

In an attempt to assist in the Sickle Cell Anemia fund drive, a number of talented students participated in a performance for the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades, April 13. The talent show provided an opportunity for students to display their artistic gifts, have some fun, and yet be furnishing assistance to a worthy cause.

The Bear News, GJHS' school newspaper, has been awarded a position of first place by Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Out of a possible total of 1000 points, the Bear News captured 920. The judging itself was based on the quality of the writing, layout, and various other factors.
